(GRAND RAPIDS, MI – August 18, 2009) -- The Academy of Professional Small Business Consultants™ is a certification program of business skills for individuals including bankers, accountants, economic developers, and other groups that assist small business owners and entrepreneurs.

The Academy offers the participants with a basic understanding of the problems facing small business entrepreneurs. The purpose of the two week Academy is to provide basic tools, information and techniques to facilitate the entrepreneurs' resolution of their problems by either direct guidance or referral to a proper resource.

"My job is to assist small businesses to understand the importance of both sustaining and growing their small business. The Academy of Professional Small Business Consultants provided me the opportunity to strengthen my skills and the tools needed to assist these small businesses," Debroah Nale, Certified Business Consultant for the Alliance for Economic Success.

The Academy is delivered in various formats including classroom participative instruction, short seminars, dinner speakers, case study analysis, and demonstrations. Completion of the first week, of the two week Academy, is a prerequisite to the attendance of the second week. Successful completion of the first week of the program is based first on the attendance of all sessions and second on the satisfactory completion of a business plan that is assigned at the end of week one and presented in week two.

"The MI-SBTDC Academy promotes success of a variety of small businesses. By teaching the fundamental tools necessary to counsel entrepreneurs, the Academy will equip you with the best practices to successfully facilitate an entrepreneur's resolution to their problems," Sienna Mavima, Academy Facilitator.
